COURSE DESCRIPTION

The Hybrid Wilderness First Responder Recertification course is essential if you work or recreate in the outdoors or in other austere environments where access to medical care is delayed or communication is unreliable. It is the industry standard for professional guides, trip leaders, search and rescue team members, outdoor recreationists, and international travelers. Upon completion, you will be able to conduct a thorough physical exam, obtain a patient history, assess vital signs, provide emergency care in the wilderness, and make crucial evacuation decisions. During this fast-paced, engaging recertification course, you will split your time between refreshing your existing WFR knowledge in the classroom and practicing your skills in realistic scenarios.

NOLS Wilderness Medicine's nationally recognized curriculum encompasses a wide range of topics including long-term patient care, wound management, selective spine immobilization, reducing dislocations, litter packaging, and epinephrine administration. Dynamic educators who have practiced medicine in both wilderness and urban environments will teach you skills and protocols to step forward in an emergency, and you will finish the intensive 24-hour course with the tools and confidence to manage patients in the backcountry for multiple days.

Upon successful completion of the written and practical assessments included in this course you will recertify your NOLS Wilderness Medicine certifications: Wilderness First Responder, Adult and Child CPR & Airway Management, and Epinephrine Auto-injector.

CLASS FORMAT AND PERSONAL PREPAREDNESS

Check in is at 7:45 a.m. on the first day of the course and typical course days run from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. The class format is classroom lectures integrated with practical scenarios, case studies, and skills practice sessions. To secure your recertification, your attendance is required for at least 90% of this course.

Scenarios and practice sessions will take place both inside and outside. Bring outdoor clothing appropriate for lying on the potentially wet, snowy, or cold ground playing the role of both rescuer and patient. Frequently course instructors will stage (mouflage) blood and make-up to enhance the realism of a scenario.

Wafa/ WFR/ WEMT RECERTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS

NOLS Wilderness Medicine certification holders may take a Wilderness First Aid (WFA) course to recertify a WFR certification. Certification holders from other wilderness medicine training organizations cannot recertify through a Wilderness First Aid course.

NOLS Wilderness Medicine certifications last 2 years from the end date of your course and are afforded a one-year grace period after expiration within which to recertify. You should bring your certification card to the course so the instructor can verify the expiration date. For more information, please visit our recertification policy at the following link: <https://nols.edu/en/courses/wilderness-medicine/recertify/>

The preferred way to recertify your Wilderness First Responder certification is to enroll in a Wilderness First Responder Recertification course, or through our Hybrid WFR Recertification course, which adds an online component in addition to traditional scenarios and skills.

You will be required to pass both a written and a practical test to recertify. Check the following web page for information and resources on how to best prepare for your course. <https://nols.edu/en/resources/wilderness-medicine-resources/>
